CoCo Hi-Fi Prototype
By Austin Chustz, Jeff Garnier, and Tom Kremer

Our app was made to run on iOS 8.1. If you click the link to the hi-fi on our website it will take you Diawi, where if you are on an iphone registered to the CS147 stanford developer account you can click on the download application button and the app will be downloaded to your home screen. Then simply tap the CoCo icon and the app will start.

Limitations: Currently you can take a video and submit it to an event, but when you view that event there will be a blank space where the video should be and it will not play if you click on it. Photos work fine though. Also, if you click the collection for any event it will play the swim video because that is the only video we made. If you close the app the content you submitted will also be lost.
