

Hi everyone!

MagicHW was developed exclusively for Android tablets. If you have an android tablet, you will be able to download our apk to your device from our website at <http://web.stanford.edu/class/cs147/projects/AugmentedHumans/MagicHW/>. Your phone will then prompt you to download and install our application, after which you will have a magic helper at your fingertips!

As our application was developed in AndroidStudio, one of the easiest ways to run it is to download AndroidStudio from:

Then you can easily download the zip file containing the project from the website listed above. From here, you can simply open up the project within AndroidStudio and run it on any tablet. This being said, we highly recommend using the Pixel C tablet as that was the main product we developed for.
