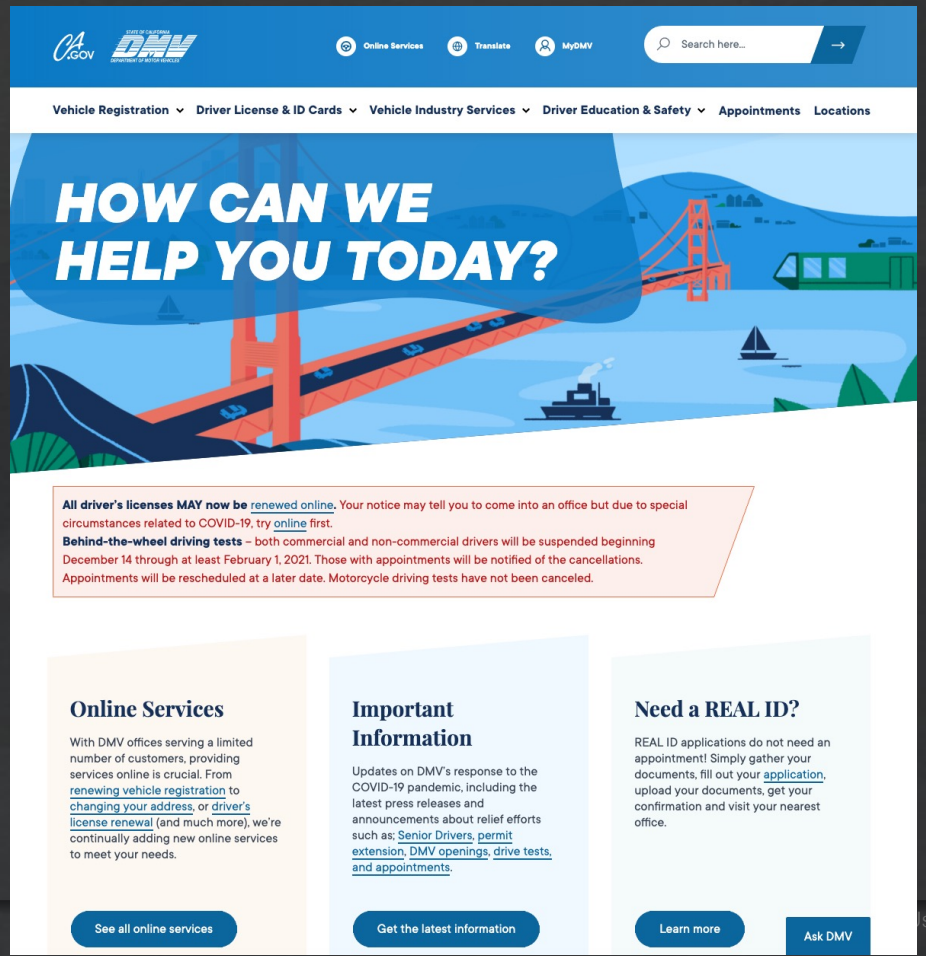
Hall of Shame!



http://www.dol.wa.gov/

+ UI is clean & uncluttered (lots of whitespace)
+ Most common task in white bar near top
+ Less important info below fold
+ Language translation at top
+ Contrast of white bar indicates navigation

- Huge wasted first read: "How can we help you today?" And large image!
- Have to click through menus to get to tasks
- Unclear why a lot of the things are above fold
  - two separate boxes (red & blue) about COVID

Forms used for public health/education data in under resourced regions

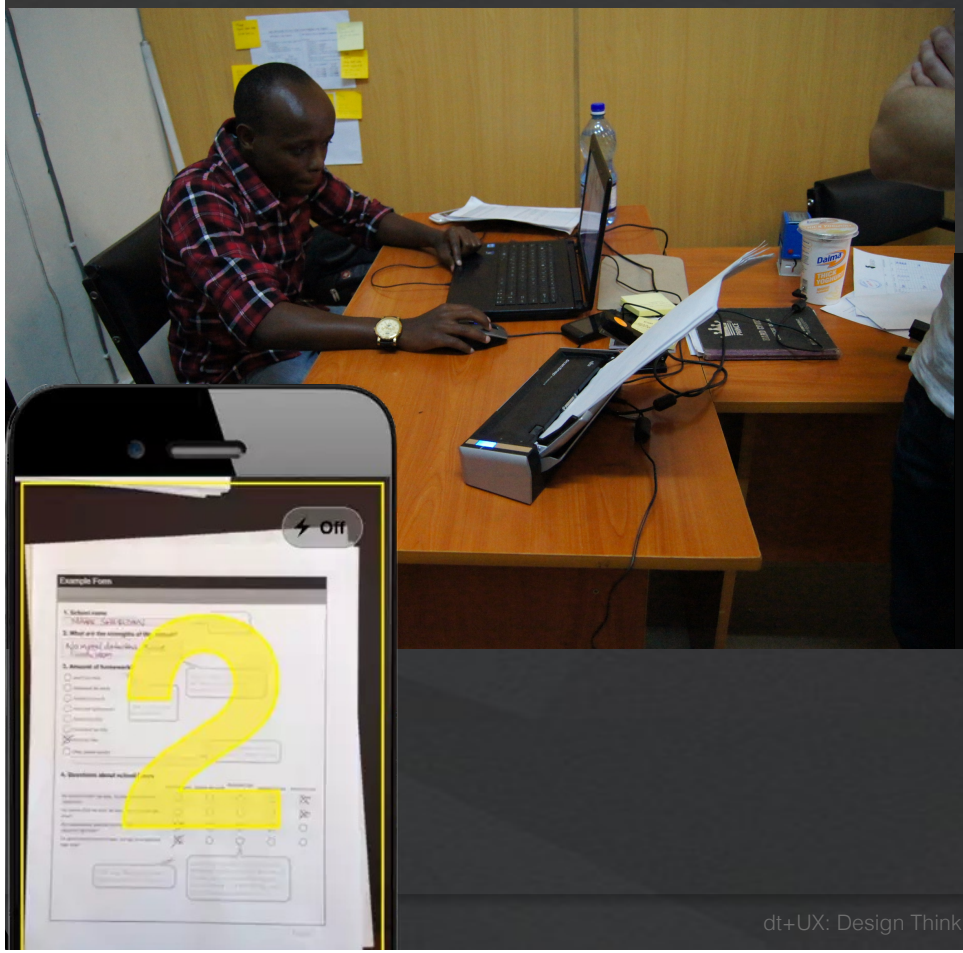
Hall of Fame!



Captricity

Scan-in form data

Machine learning to parse & humans to verify

Faster & less error prone than existing methods

UI innovation is the form layout & using phone camera

Making Art Accessible to Young Professionals

We heard:
"I don't understand.
Why is this $50 and this $5000.
I actually like the $50 one more, but maybe it sucks."

"What do my friends like?"

We think of collecting art as deeply personal, but in fact for them art is about what others are going to think.

The presumed mindset:

ART IS DEEPLY PERSONAL.

The realization:

ART IS FASHION ON THE WALL.

Joel, a guy in his twenties with a good job and a new apartment

WE WERE SURPRISED TO NOTICE . . .

He worries his taste was unrefined when the pieces he liked didn't align with the more expensive prices

Joel views art as fashion on the wall: it's about what his friends are going to think about his taste

IT WOULD BE GAME-CHANGING TO . . .

Team Wanderlust

We heard:

"[I'm] a person who only goes to places one always goes – safe bets."

"when visitors come or I'm with other people, I'm motivated to research and explore new places"

"safety is the most important element when navigating a neighborhood"

People are not always searching for the fastest route and other people can serve as motivation to explore new areas

WE MET . . .

Lena, a newcomer to the city, who is afraid to stray from her routine path

WE WERE SURPRISED TO NOTICE . . .

she enjoyed diverging from her usual route to find a restaurant for her friend who was visiting

WE WONDER IF THIS MEANS. . .

people are willing to explore if they feel safe

IT WOULD BE GAME-CHANGING TO . . .

motivate people to explore unfamiliar places

Team Wanderlust

We heard:
“there was a time that I only had a final destination to visit. Since I wasn’t in a rush, as long as I arrived to my final destination, routes did not matter.”

The fastest route is not always the preferable route. People need a way to customize their routes depending on context/purpose.

WE MET . . .

JunGu, a short-time visitor from Korea, exploring the area on his way to a destination

WE WERE SURPRISED TO NOTICE . . .

people are not always searching for the fastest route

WE WONDER IF THIS MEANS. . .

people would like to select more interesting routes

IT WOULD BE GAME-CHANGING TO . . .

customize routes based on one's travel goals (interest)

Too much of a solution

USE TO FIND NEEDS & INSIGHTS

Identifying Needs

WHAT DOES SHE NEED?

- A ladder, more books, …
  - NO, these are solutions
- Acknowledgement from her peers that she is a hard worker?
- A strong voice driven by knowledge & education?
- More social time with her father through reading together?
- These needs are more powerful & inspiring for design

- Provides focus & frames the problem
- Inspires your team
- Provides a reference for evaluating competing ideas
- Fuels brainstorms by suggesting “how might we” statements
- Captures the hearts and minds of people you meet

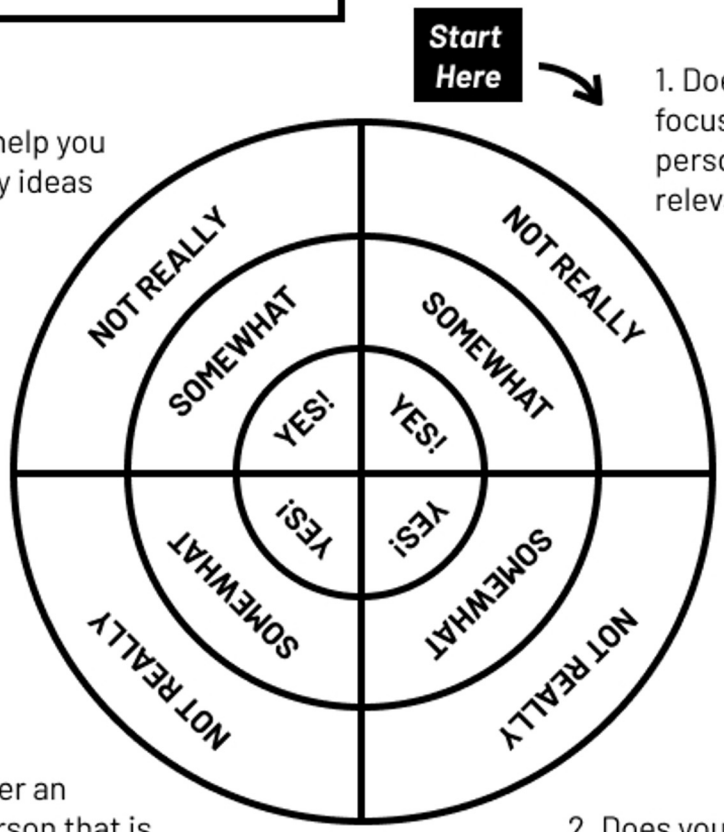
EVALUATE YOUR POV



1. Does your POV start by focusing on one specific person and sharing relevant context?

2. Does your POV present a truly surprising observation or quote related to a pain point?

3. Does your POV offer an insight about the person that is emotional and flows logically from what you learned?

4. Does your POV help you you generate many ideas immediately?

We met… Chuck. ← No background

We were surprised to notice… he wears jeans often and they're always dirty because he doesn't clean them. ← It's a fact that jeans get dirty when you don't clean them. Not surprising.

We wonder if this means... Chuck is lazy. ← Focus more on Chuck's emotional experience. Don't label your users.

It would be game changing to… help him be less lazy. ← This is a big assumption about Chuck instead of his experience.

We met… Chuck, a guy who wears jeans all the time. ← not enough about his identity

We were surprised to notice… he wears his jeans dirty and chooses not to clean them. ← why is it surprising he chooses not to clean them?

We wonder if this means… Chuck doesn't have time to clean his jeans. ← maybe, but not super logical in explaining his choice.

It would be game changing to… provide Chuck with faster ways to clean his jeans. ← limits the brainstorming

We met… Chuck, a young millennial living in an apartment who loves to wear jeans. ← lots of context!

We were surprised to notice… he cares about his jeans and wants to preserve them, but doesn't like to wash them. ← contradiction!

We wonder if this means… Chuck believes that the best way to take care of his jeans is to not wash them. ← about Chuck's beliefs!

It would be game changing to… help him care for and preserve his clothes while still keeping them clean. ← sky's the limit!
