"Raise your hand if you are in college, now keep your hand up if you feel confident about your knowledge of healthcare."

This is precisely the problem! Our goal is to increase health literacy with EduCare, a unique education application equipped with daily fun facts, engaging learning modules, and sharing functionalities.

The gamification of healthcare results in more preventative care, less serious and long-term illnesses, and a healthier society in the long run.