

idk # of speakers. potential to have actors? i think #2 is unique

Option #1: Speech

Imagine you on your dream vacation.

Buying your first home.

Retiring comfortably.

All of these actions require money, money that can take years to save... or you could invest to multiply your money.

HOWEVER you and many others might have experienced investing is scary to start, filled with jargon, and hard to keep up with the news

Introducing Wallus. The app that makes investing fun and part of a community.

You can join a group of friends investing in the same stock or create a new group to start investing together. You can take Wallus the Walrus mascot's advice in stock choices and decisions based on stability or market changes. Or learn about the new subject through ? popups, dictionary, and feed of decision rationale by your friends.

We focus on reimagining investing to be fun and with your friends.

Option #2: Audience interaction

Alright hands up in the air. **throw candy wrapped in green string from art room to people in the audience**

I am here representing Wallus. And what I just threw to you all is the profits you make by investing your savings with us.

Chances are though, at one point in your life, you found investing intimidating and filled with jargon.

Wallus, combining Wallet plus Us **move arms in a circle indicating us the audience** is an app that makes investing more welcoming by being part of a community.

You and your friends can start investing in the same stock and share profits like that I just threw to you. For beginners, Wallus the Walrus mascot is always there to share advice and the friendly community teaches you through a feed of decision rationale by your friends.

Wallus reinvents investing to be fun and social for the first time.
