Had a really tough conversation with my Mom today. She's handling Bill's passing well.

Rekindl Usability Study #1

in Rekindle organization

“I wish there was some easy visual way to see the status of all the relationships you care about”

“it’s nice to have a visual marker of how my relationships are doing, but I don’t like how the app assumes how my relationships are”

Ash: “People want to keep in touch … if they wanted to, wouldn't they?”

overview view

1. urgency sorting/marking
2. ability to self select/report for each friend

calendar

issues:

1. both people need app
2. schedule sensitivity, privacy

calendar

change: one way sharing
make it easy to send personal availability, even to non-user friends

high-five

“High fives are not the typical ways I interact with my close or distant relationships”

“This all feels disturbing artificial and I’d rather maintain these relationships in real life.”

bye-five

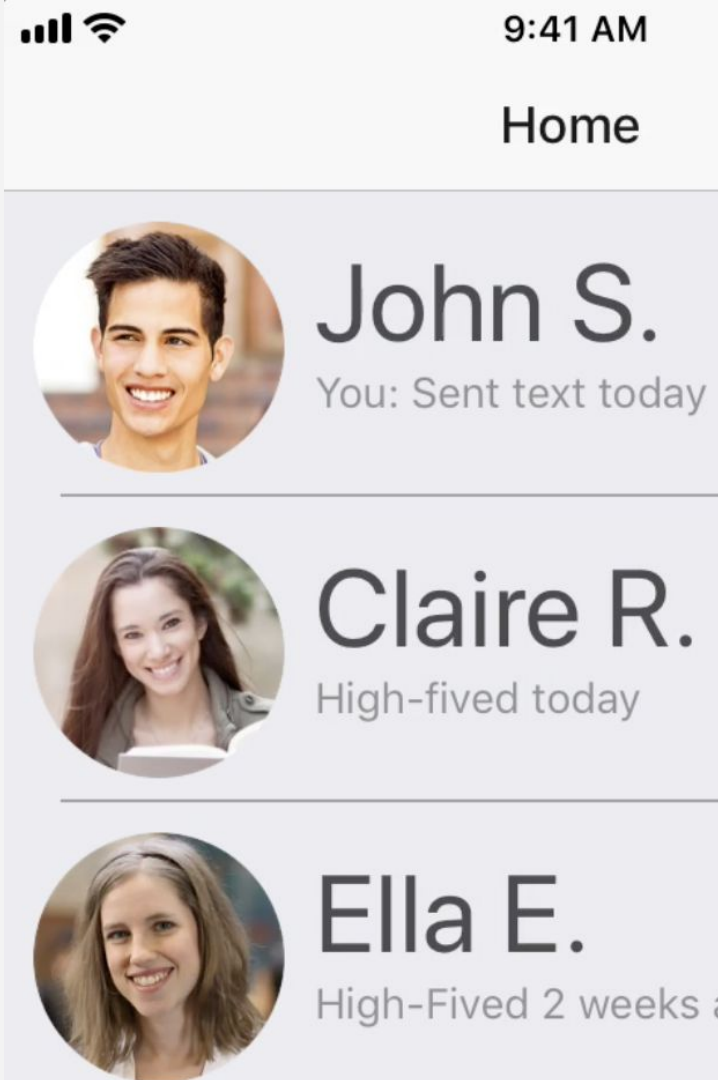

[low-cost interaction?]

future tests

(make it personal)

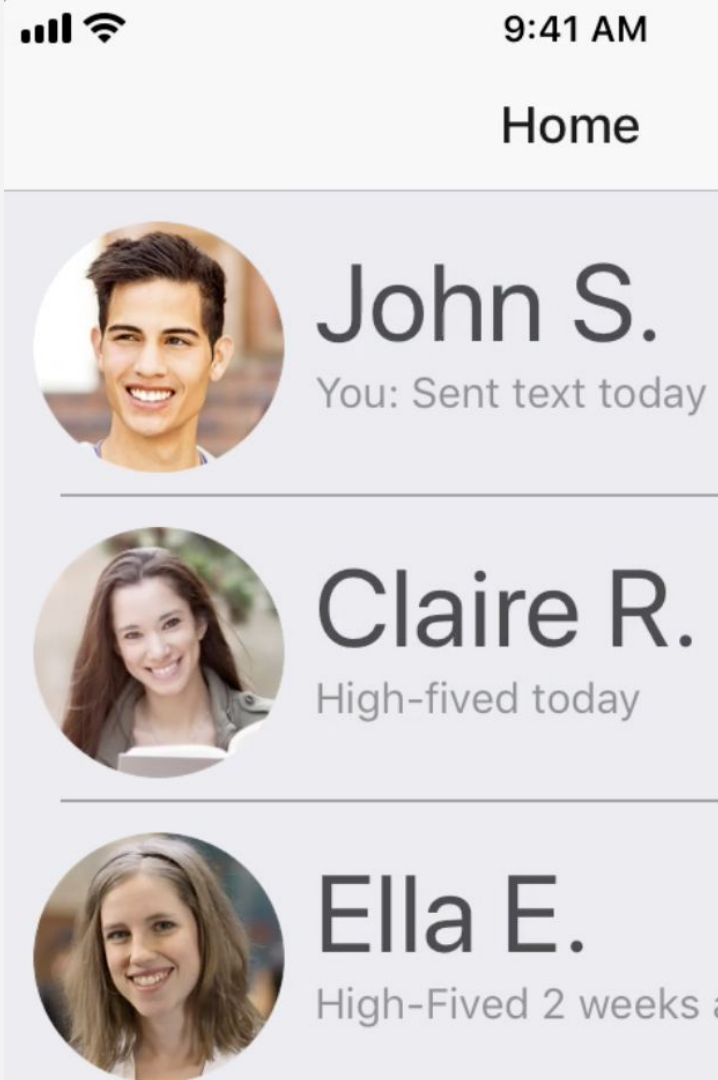

“Why are all my friends so white?”

we want to test authentic interactions within people's real relationships
